

College Life - Mike's Tuesday

8:45

Wake up and shower. My first class is always at 10:30, so I just leave my alarm set for the same time every day.

9:05

Took a longer shower today. The usual morning internet routine: Facebook, email, blogs, and watching ESPN.

9:35

I'm actually hungry today, so I eat some blueberry muffins for breakfast.

9:58

Bus to campus.

10:20

Read the paper until Astronomy starts. Ironically, my MWF and TR classes at 10:30 are in the same classroom, so today I sat in the same seat as yesterday.

10:30

Astronomy lecture. I enjoy this class, mainly because it's all stuff I already know and am interested in.

11:45

Astronomy ends. I don't have long, so I run to the library to grab a sandwich before lab starts.

12:15

I get to chem lab early to get set up. Hopefully I'll get out early this way.

12:30

Start chem lab. It's a boring experiment about analyzing weights and statistics. Blah.

3:00

Meet my physics lab partner at the library to work on homework that's due Friday.

4:20

Catch the bus home.

4:45

As is tradition, videogames with the roommates.

6:00

Go to Taco Bell with my roommates for dinner.

6:45

Homework. I finish the physics assignment, do pre-class reading, and work some chemistry problems.

9:30

Watch a movie with my roommates.

12:00

Read a little bit, then go to bed.
