

College Life - Mike's Wednesday

8:39

Wake up before my alarm. I HATE that. Get in the shower.

8:55

Breakfast and daily internet. Mike and Mike in the Morning. I would probably die without ESPN.

9:58

Bus to campus.

10:20

Read the paper in physics class until time to start.

10:30

Physics.

11:30

Analytical chemistry. Even though it's kind of a boring subject, I feel really good about it, mainly because so far I understand it without needing to work too hard.

12:20

Eat a granola bar as I go to my 12:30 class. Today is my least favorite day, because I have no time to eat a real lunch.

12:30

Methods in Secondary Education. This class is really interesting to me, because it's all about what I want to do after graduation.

3:30

Go eat at Joes with some people from my class. We all miss eating lunch at a normal time.

5:00

Get a ride home from a classmate, and beat my roommates at videogames again.

6:30

Cook up some Hamburger Helper for dinner. It's one of the best meals for broke college kids.

7:10

Homework. I get ready for day 2 of this week's chem lab, and read up on some Astronomy.

9:00

Go to my neighbors' apartment to hang out and play some more videogames.

11:15

Get home and read some more (for fun, not for school).

12:00

Bedtime!
